Quick & Easy Digital Painting Like a Professional: This easy course will guide you through creating unique, customized digital artwork and illustrations with Adobe Photoshop (or any similar software) within a few minutes. The images appear professional and can be used online, in video and animations, or for printing purposes like on a poster or letterhead, a T-shirt, or other items.

Please note that version trials for Photoshop can be downloaded on Adobe's website.

Make money by creating your distinctive digital illustrations and images (and quit paying people to create these for you), and learn abilities that allow you to earn money by designing professional-looking images to sell to others. You can also use these easy techniques to create original illustrations and pictures as gifts for loved ones and friends.

There is no need to be able to draw. There are an overwhelming number of graphic designers who cannot draw... However, they compensate with techniques similar to those taught in this class and, naturally, by understanding more about composition, layout, color, typography, and other aspects essential to visual literacy.

You decide how much time you'll spend on each picture, influencing the final results. You could create these in just a few minutes as you create more and more. You could also create a small illustration or digital painting business for others through Fiverr, Elance, and other freelance websites.

I'm a professional award-winning multimedia artist and an Associate Professor who was tenured in Digital Media and Program Director of Film & Digital Media at The American University of Rome (2006-2016). I'm an Associate Professor Visiting Digital Media at the brand-new American University of Myanmar in Yangon, Myanmar (Burma).

Since 2000, I've been instructing students from all over the world with my tried-and-true customized approach (turning complicated information into something simple, easily understood, memorable, and easy to understand in the shortest amount of time as feasible) to make sure that you receive the most relevant, essential and practical information that you can apply immediately.

The new lectures and other materials will be added regularly, and timely guidance will be offered in the discussion forums. I am a great helper and respond to questions and questions promptly.
