Useful if You Have to embed subtitles on video for the internet or Tape shipping. Import subtitles into After Effects utilizing Encore Text Script, SubRip SRT, or WebVTT formats, render with alpha to import to your editing Applications, or use right in Premiere Pro with Dynamic Link.

HOW TO USE:

Produce A brand new composition with a suitable format for the output.

Subtitles Are created with the configurations from the Character/Paragraph panels, so Produce a sample text coating initially and modify the font, size, and orientation as required. By Way of Example, You Might Want the text orientation from the Paragraph panel set to "Center Text". After that, you can delete the text layer.

Run The script, select the subtitle format, then click on Publish Subtitles and Choose the file to import.

To Alter the text size or mode after import, then pick the text layer that is imported And alter the settings from the Character/Paragraph panels required. Next, delete the subtitle coating and apply the script to import it.

Drag The subtitle coating to the base of the comp, utilizing the Name Safe comp Manuals if needed.

New Changes:

- Added basic WebVTT format support
- Fixed issue with incorrect box size on bi-directional text
- Improved handling of format variations

Subsequently, You have the choice to:

- Render The having an alpha channel, import in your editing program, and place the Subtitles on your movie.
- Import The movie into After Effects and set below the subtitle coating, then Leave the outcome.
- With Premiere Pro you Simply Need to conserve your AE job, then you can drag the Subtitle comp from AE's job panel right into Premiere Pro's Job panel, and from there, in the edit.
