The classic CineStock profiles are not just a way to illustrate films. They incorporate color theory and color patterns that we associate with our amazing trips to the cinema. The carefully designed profiles give stunningly polished looks and also offer an array of options for correction, making these profiles more than just an exquisite tool but also a possible basis for your own distinctive designs.

50 profiles give you a vast variety of different styles, regardless of whether you're seeking natural, or teal and orange hues, you'll always be able to find the color schemes that we have all come to know and enjoy from movies. The current version does not offer camera profiles that are pure like our Classic K14 and ECN2 presets. The Classic CineStock profiles feature a new feature that allows you to use LUTs that are associated with Adobe's camera profile, which was added within Lightroom Classic CC 7.3. What you create with Photoshop and DaVinci Resolve can only be transferred to Lightroom in a static appearance. Any camera supported by Lightroom can use these profiles. Of course, they can be used together with Lightroom CC and Adobe Camera RAW too.
