Recorded IN A DISCONTINUED FACTORY Hall

The perfect location to capture the sounds of it was industrial. It was awash with massive steel girders, chains, and barrels that were rusting with rattling sheets of steel and resonance poles. The distinctive sound of the old production hall was a massive and clear reverb that makes the recordings sound stunning - just what you need for those huge and booming metal impactors. Additionally, we have included the impulse response from the hall in this sound pack. A massive reverb awaits you!

Available in STEREO and QUAD

Due to the unique sound quality in the factory hall, we made the decision that we would record our library both audio in stereo, as well as a quad. If stereo isn't for you, you can explore surround sound to make something truly full of sound. The versions also include near-mono recordings that have less reverb, giving you more control over your transients.
