Nuclear Coffee Recover Keys helps recover and protect activation keys for more than eleven thousand software programs on Windows operating systems. For those who have lost product keys, the software aids in easy recovery from Windows to various other programs. This includes Acronis, Microsoft Office, Adobe products, and the newer Electronic Arts games. In severe cases where a vendor must be contacted, this can save time and money. Furthermore, encryption guarantees the data is fully protected when backing up activation keys. The user interfaces can also be directly printed or exported for easy backup, accompanied by secure storage, allowing the device to be used anywhere. The software recovers over 11000 programs and can also search cloud drives.

- Remote Scanning: The software can scan and extract the product keys from several hard drives and an entire Windows system without needing them to be bootable.
- Cloud Storage: The product keys can also be used from other browsers, having been securely stored and uploaded to cloud storage.
- Key Backup Options: The software supports Text, Word, Excel, HTML, CSV, XML PDFs, and more, so the recovered keys can be exported or printed.
- Office Versions Support: The product key can only be retrieved from the last five characters for Office 2013, 2016, and 2019 (the rest of the key is not kept).
- Simplified Interaction: Users can work with specific features in a straightforward yet effective manner, making it fun and easy for experts and novices.
