Quest Software ApexSQL Audit Great Features:

- Take raw data with an integrated reporting API and then analyze it using Power BI or other software.
- Automatically add the newly created databases for auditing with a predefined auditing setup.
- You can access the administration of audits with the managed domain account that is automated password management.
- Automatically detect columns that contain sensitive information and review how read-access is made to the columns.
- Utilize existing templates from the box to set up SQL Server instance auditing and ensure that the configuration for auditing incorporates the entire SQL Server and database level instances required to satisfy HIPAA, SOX, PCI, FERPA, and other compliance standards. Modify existing templates or design your templates and use them on multiple SQL Servers with one click.
- Recognize, track and receive alerts whenever specific objects are opened, or data is watched. Find the computer, log in, and software used to access audited objects and the date that the incident occurred.
- Review changes to data that result through the insert, update, deletion, and insert operations. Analyze and compare the old values with the updated ones. Add additional columns to reports to help track.
- Audit operations are performed by specific users, such as high privilege users, or opt to conduct a full audit of the database's changes by specific applications.
- Review information quickly by choosing from a library that includes built-in report templates. Create customized reports using any report you have already created.
