UltraSearch Pro is a reliable and efficient software crafted for swift file location on NTFS hard drives, allowing users to customize search criteria. With the capability to find files in real-time, users can search by document content, file type, or properties, whether on a corporate network or a personal PC.

This tool swiftly identifies relevant files by utilizing the Master File Table (MFT) specific to the NTFS system, bypassing the need for drive indexing, which often consumes significant time in similar applications. This results in a substantial reduction in the time users spend searching for specific files. The program boasts a user-friendly interface, ensuring accessibility for a diverse audience.

Users can employ keywords, wildcards, and regular expressions for searches by selecting the desired drive(s) and entering the keywords. The search operation can be further refined by specifying exclusions based on wildcards, regular expressions, or full names.

By default, the application excludes the Recycle Bin and the System Volume Information, a configuration recommended for optimal performance. The search results can be saved and sorted based on criteria such as name, path, size, file type, and date changed, either in ascending or descending order.

Additional features include creating a context menu shortcut for convenient access, automated checks for new drives, and skipping User Account Control warnings. offers a comprehensive solution for efficient and customizable file searches, enhancing user productivity.
