Aescrips Drag Zoom Pro for Adobe PR v1.1.7: Zoom in and out of your video by drawing an intuitive box around the frame. The frame. It also supports keyframing with automatic technology.

Smooth transitions using natural motion blur. It allows you to zoom into specific frames without having to play manually using the "position" and "scale" numbers and the "transform" effect.

You drag and click this extension to draw the rectangle around a specific area of the frame. That's it: keyframes and the appropriate values will be automatically set. This is especially helpful when making screen recordings or interviews.

- Appropriate support for bezier easing keyframes
- Resolved blank UI issue
- Super helpful in editing highlights of streams - The extension offers many options for customization and also includes tools to ensure an identical look across all projects. It can also create motion blur-free transitions when footage is more excellent quality than the timeline's (which typically causes issues with Premiere Pro).
