The Cablecam rig and the add-on are designed to permit you to create cinematic camera motions with minimal effort. With the help of the three-axis control system, traditional camera motion will soon be a thing of the past.

Simply select where you'd like your camera to be looking at specific times within your scene. Next, decide where you'd like the camera's location, and adjust your horizon using the control for rotation. This could involve sweeping the subject's area in a cinematic manner and then snooping within your subject to create the tension of your scenes or even connecting the camera to the "cable" using our buttoned script, which tracks your scene on a customized path.
