Zoom in and out of your video by drawing a box around the frame. the frame. It also supports keyframing with automatic technology.

Smooth transitions using natural motion blur that zooms into specific areas of the frame, without having to manipulate manually the "position", "scale" and "rotation" values of a layer.

In this extension, you simply move and click to create the rectangle around a specific area of the frame. That's it the keyframes and appropriate values will be generated automatically.

Super convenient to edit highlight highlights of the stream

The extension offers many customization options and also includes tools to ensure an even look across all projects.
