Residuum - What stays or is Left.

Stories of evaporating lives resting in vacant houses, amidst a Granite background, dusty baths, and cracked windows. Aged cameras, untouched For decades, peeking through fuzzy lenses. Dresses and blouses, after valued and Paraded, crumpled in left and boxes into the moths.

In All my work, I try to give life to everything is Left. Abandoned rooms at deserted homes, bearing blossoms of lifestyles Once dwelt, start to tell stories. Out-of-date cameras along with fungus-ridden Lenses locate second-life in new palms. And let us face it, there is nothing very Like a classic wedding gown. The classic beauty of the remaining moments is equally Revered and refreshed in the hands of this artist.

I'm endlessly motivated by the residue of all existence which lies, Like dust, onto everything. In this backpack, I've exploited all That reminds me of this left-behind attractiveness I seek to catch, playing with color Inspiration made from older homes, classic cameras, dead film, and departure Styles.
