Digital glitches that are gnarly and traditional IDM beats are enhanced by intricate, semi-random synth lines developed using sequencers based on probability and synth patches that are generative. The result is a complex collection of sounds that feels like the right place in a variety of genres.

Each loop is rendered at the same 126 BPM with a key D#m. Combine and mix loops, or combine them with your own music to create something completely unique. Blind Audio brings you only the finest sounds - drawing from a variety of sources, including classic digital and analog synths, instruments from the real world, as well as high-quality field recordings.
