The Supreme Studio was basically constructed for the users and developers who demand the maximum quality as well as anticipated that they would get the best quality and performance, reliability, and a nice online record help. The ultimate FTP is considered to be a hundred percent handled class library of .NET which has the ability to provide the users and developers are very powerful as well as a detailed find transfer capability for the user software of .NET just like the desktop, Win Forms, WPF, and last but not least console. The web services can be added as well. It has the ability to make it very effortless in order to move files right between the user program and the Unix, windows, and the servers of the Mainframe FTP. It has the ability to be integrated into the huge range of platforms of .NET which includes Xamarin, iOS, Android, mac and finally .NET CF. This component has the ability to make it very easy for the user in order to secure the connection with the use of the SSL layer and also to transfer files between the user application. It is described to be returned purely in the language of C# along with a lot of advanced optimization in order to deliver the best performance to the user and developer. It also has the ability to include a lot of VB, C# client examples in order to help the user and developer to get very familiar with the API and write the apps in few seconds. If the user is concerned about the performance of the application whenever the process of connecting and transforming of the files and folders to the server is taking place, then the component of the ultimate FTP a perfect option for the user and the developer. It is considered to be highly optimized for the connection of the circuit as well as file transfer protocol and it is especially very helpful in the application of the FTP where the process is considered to be crucial just like the process of transferring a huge number of file. It has certain benefits such as minimizing the use the resources of the user and the fast execution time for the process, and the performance which is considered to be the maximum possible speed of the data transfer process as well as the management of operation. This particular library permits the user and developer in order to set the bandwidth by setting the properties of FTP class. The library permits the user and developer as well as the user application to automatically reconnect to the server whenever the process of connection is lost while the process of transferring got the file was going on. If the transfer of the file is interrupted than the class of the FTP as the ability to resume and transfer right after the connection is regained. This feature has the ability to make the user application work stably without any additional as well as complex code in order to handle the errors wherever the connection to the server is unstable and stops.
