What is Fireworks: Sound Effects

"Fireworks: Sound Effects" refers to a collection or compilation of audio recordings or sound files that capture the various sounds produced by fireworks. These sound effects are often used in various forms of media production, including movies, television shows, video games, advertisements, and audiovisual presentations, to add realism or create a specific atmosphere during scenes that involve fireworks.

Such sound effects may include recordings of fireworks explosions, crackling sounds, whistles, bangs, and any other noises associated with fireworks displays. These sound effects can be used to enhance the auditory experience of a scene or event that features fireworks, even if actual fireworks are not being used.
