The "Auto Transition Builder" is a tool or script designed for Adobe After Effects, and it's offered by aescritps + aeplugins. These plugins and scripts are commonly used by motion graphics designers and video editors to enhance the capabilities of After Effects and simplify complex tasks.

The "Auto Transition Builder" likely simplifies the process of creating transitions in video and motion graphics projects. Transitions are effects used to smoothly change from one scene or shot to another in a video. Instead of manually animating transitions, which can be time-consuming, this tool might automate the process, making it quicker and easier to create seamless transitions.
