DWKit is a .NET open source BPM system created out of simplicity and versatility in mind. DWKit permits you to model, automate, and implement mission-critical company procedures, whatever business you are operating in.

A readymade BPM solution is frequently inadequate to fulfill your business needs. Be it the requirement to ensure regulatory compliance or to construct custom logic which goes beyond what the machine offers, we think that creating the source code available is the thing to do.

Hencewe created DWKit's source code accessible to our clients so that they can change whatever it is that can make their company more effective.

DWKit's most important objective is to assist you in efficiently handle form and business process development time with drag&drop interaction.
