Your Instructor

Greg Benz, I became passionate about photography in 2000 while living in London for six months, and my enthusiasm has only grown since then. While I call Minneapolis home now, I continue to travel the world in search of breathtaking cityscapes and landscapes.

My aim is to create art and connect with fellow photographers, sharing the vision, tools, and techniques behind my work. I've never found a camera that automatically captures the beauty I see, so I rely on Lightroom, Photoshop, luminosity masking, or HDR for most of my images. While these topics may seem daunting, I aim to simplify them through the tools and tutorials I share on this site.
