A Pragmatic Tech House Toolset for Your Creative Journey

At Evolution Of Sound, we believe that samples and soundbanks should simplify your creative process. Our goal is to provide samples and presets that you'll consistently return to use. To achieve this, we meticulously craft each sample and preset on a sound that has proven its efficacy.

For instance, in this pack, we took inspiration from James Hype's groundbreaking lead style, centered around Granulation, and replicated that vibe in our Serum presets without relying on additional plugins. This results in a fresh sound for you to incorporate, backed by a proven formula.

We applied a similar methodology to our samples, drawing from new techniques acquired from the Rock community, particularly in recording drums. By layering them with essential samples, we maintain a familiar formula while introducing a dynamic new element to the mix.

Our Commitment and Mission

Music production should be an accessible outlet for self-expression, not a complex endeavor. We are dedicated to giving back to the music we love by assisting the new generation of artists in achieving their desired sound. This commitment manifests in creating highly sought-after sounds, enabling producers to learn and incorporate them into their artistic endeavors.

Moreover, these soundbanks contribute to funding the Zen World/Evolution Of Sound YouTube channel, which has been providing up-to-date production tutorials for music producers worldwide for the past decade.
