Ever had to reestablish isometric examples along a particular axis?

If that is your case, You May Have discovered it a little Dull to maintain charge of the alignment between layers. When it is not your situation, let me know your secret!

While playing with a few expressions I generated a Way to simplify this procedure. It is a very simple script that allows you to constrain motion at the 3 axes of this drawing.

Only export your Examples, choose the layers that you need to rekindle, click on the"Rig" Button and that is it, you also have 3 sliders to control the place from the Y, X, and Z axes in 2D area for each coating.
