Mockup Academy Class 2:Working with Curved Surfaces: You've likely heard about how vital product mockups are for growing your business in the field of art. In Mockup Academy, you'll quickly learn to create stunningly realistic mockups. In this course, you'll learn all you need to know about creating mockups that are curved. We'll begin with mugs, and I'll show you tricks to warp designs around bowls to make the illusion of depth the inside of a bowl. The techniques can be applied to various curving surfaces, such as lampshades or water bottles, flower pots, pitchers, soap dispensers, etc.

This is the second class of Mockup Academy. While I suggest starting with Class 1 but it's not essential, and the basics will be covered in the first part of the class. I'm also adding the fad "Help, It's Not Working" section near the end to address questions and provide troubleshooting assistance to make it easier for users to start creating mockups immediately!

I've been a surface designer for over six years and licensed artwork to numerous businesses. This course was created because it took me a long time to master the art of making mockups, and I would love to have discovered a course similar to this when I was beginning my journey! I'll share all my tips and tricks, from arranging your layers to get the most effective to utilizing layers masks and intelligent objects tips to outline objects and use transform tools.
