is a robust Software Developer Kit (SDK) designed to simplify access to IrDA features on Windows platforms. Compatible with Delphi, CBuilder, Lazarus, Microsoft .NET, C++, Python, and Unity, it can function either as part of the Wireless Communication Library or as a standalone solution. Offering a comprehensive set of features, it includes hardware change detection and monitoring, synchronous and asynchronous events, as well as system power state monitoring.

In the realm of IrDA, it enables the discovery, monitoring, and connection to IrDA devices, supporting various modes including 3-Wire, 9-Wire, and IrLPT. Furthermore, BTFramework IrDA Framework .NET provides OBEX functionalities such as discovering IrDA devices, monitoring them with Lazy Discovering, querying device properties and IAS records, and connecting to or accepting connections from IrDA devices in both client and server modes. OBEX features include a basic
