Light Tracer Render is a user-friendly and powerful 3D rendering tool for novices and professionals in diverse areas. Achieving photorealistic results in mere moments is made possible because the software allows users to adjust materials, lighting, and geometry in any way they wish in a real-time workflow. Modification is only a second away. Light Tracer's advanced GPU-based rendering engine makes precise light simulation, superb efficiency, and AI-backed noise reduction possible.

The software boasts a comprehensive solution for product marketing, engineering, interior design, and more through its keyframe animation and physics simulation support and a vast library of PBR materials and HDRI maps, further enhancing its versatility. Notably, Light Tracer is the first web-based raytracing renderer in the world, meaning it can be used in a standard browser without any installation and renders the highest quality images possible.

Can render in 3D on-the-go:

- Engine is based on physics and simulates light accurately.
- Material, light, and object placement can all be altered without delay.
- AI-assisted cleanup and noise cancellation for quicker and more refined results.

Animations and Simulations:

- Keyframe animation is available for objects, environments, camera, and lens movements.
- Animals in 3D can be portrayed and animated through bones.
- Physics in the application will allow users to place and interact with objects realistically.

Cloud Rendering:

- No performance loss while rendering in a web browser.
- Compatible with all popular browsers - Chrome, Edge, Firefox, and Safari.
- No restrictions on network speed or cloud limitations.

Universal Compatibility:

- Import and export saved files in all popular formats: OBJ, STL, PLY, glTF, FBX, DAE, 3DM, STEP, IGES.
