Aescripts loopFlow v1.3.1 (Win, Mac): loopFlow LoopFlow is loopFlow is an After Effects plug-in that lets you animate still images to looped videos. With two masks, you can determine the flow direction and area. Make use of it to create a continuous flow of fluid, like billowing smoke, flowing water, flying particles, and fire. You can also animate hair, fur, fabric, or patterns. Your imagination is yours to choose. Animation is created by sliding an image's area through a mesh created between two masks. It is possible to repeat the animation.

- The area that is animated will be defined with two masks.
- Continuous animation that loops with the option to stop or start the sequence.
- · Animation can be able to move forward or backward.
- The blend may be linear, soft-noised, or wiping.
- The transition to blend can be controlled using curves for each layer separately.
- You can add distortions for the animation to appear more natural.
- Speed Ramp allows users to change dynamically the speed of flow.
