The Ticket Wizard software lets you insert spreadsheet data into PDF artwork templates, creating a customized copy of the spreadsheet rows.

Ticket Wizard can read Excel or CSV files and allows you to add textual data and barcodes that are most well-known, making the raffle ticket, cards for business wi-fi tags, inventory tags, price tags, and many more.

The Ticket Wizard can be helpful for those who need to design an easily printable and editable template of tickets and similar images like vouchers, gift cards, board passes, stickers labels, price tags, diplomas, and so on. With the help of Ticket Wizard, it is possible to create customized copies of any of the images above, including interactive elements that can be customized with your information.

After launch, you'll be welcomed by the primary window of Ticket Wizard,, which will prompt you to download the template PDF. A handful of examples are available; you must study them to understand how the program works. There are various options: the boarding pass, stand-up comedy print or event ticket, and gift cards.

The sample projects have data. You can also import details from an Excel spreadsheet or a CSV file. The left-side panel contains the information you import, while the middle panel serves to view the data. The right-side panel displays the font you are using, the text's size, and whether it's bold, italic, or underlined. It also includes other properties of text, like the dimension, color of the text, its scale and rotation, and horizontal and vertical alignment.

Suppose you click on any element of the left-hand side panel, The preview that appears in the middle changes instantly. Furthermore, any elements on the left-side panel can be added to your design either as texts or barcodes that will be generated automatically to make it easier for you; It is possible to insert dynamically-generated data that you can customize within your graphic and then automatically update the information in the spreadsheet linked to it.

When your design is finished, you can create a PDF file and save the design. The resultant document contains multiple pages, each with copies of the initial PDF template filled with every row of the data panel or an imported CSV/Excel file.

Tickets Wizard can be used to create images that have a typical style but require customized information. It can create everything from raffle tickets to boarding passes. In essence, using the Wizard for Ticket allows for anything that has the standard layout and the essential elements that need to be customized. Wizard.

The Ticket Wizard allows you to add two dynamic elements to the design templates: barcodes and text. Every dynamic element is connected with the column in your spreadsheet and shows the information of the row you have selected.

In both cases, you can control positions, rotations, scale, and color (including CMYK and spot colors). For text, you can also set font parameters. Barcodes come with a variety of the most well-known symbols.

Ticket Wizard runs numerous checks and warns users of errors, such as inaccurate barcode data or missing symbols or fonts.
