Do you edit your video in Final Cut Pro X? Did you ever have the need to create multiple screenshots from your video but found the whole process to be extremely long and time-consuming?

I'VE BEEN THERE and I've found a solution.

If you're looking for high-quality still images of your footage within FCPX to promote your business on social media, websites blogs, or video thumbnails, I have you covered. The information you learn during this class will help you save time.

I will show students how you can automate creating multiple screenshots using FCPX. There is no need to export frames by frames and have to give the same name to every single document. Learn how to include markers on your timeline to batch process and then export them all to high-resolution stills.

All you need is FCPX as well as the Shortcuts Application. That's it!

This Class is For:

- Video Editors
- Filmmakers
- Content Creators
- Videographers
- Anyone who uses FCPX.
