What is Gender Reveal Smoke Photoshop Overlay?

A Gender Reveal Smoke Photoshop Overlay is a graphical element or image that you can add to your photos in Adobe Photoshop to create a smoke effect associated with gender reveal announcements. Gender reveal parties are events where expecting parents share the gender of their unborn child with friends and family, often using creative and visually striking methods.

The smoke overlay is specifically designed to incorporate colors typically associated with gender reveal themes, which are pink for a girl and blue for a boy. The overlay usually features billowing smoke in these colors, creating a visually appealing and symbolic representation of the expected baby's gender.
