Field and Foley ASMR Essentials: With ASMR Essentials, Splice collaborates with Overworld Studios and Armenian folklorist singer, songwriter, and performance ECM musician Areni Agbabian. Areni is well-known for her work with highly technically complex vocal compositions by Tigran Hamasyan; she took the time to explain how her view on the essential ASMR vocalizations as well as instrument/sound effects is vital to her as an artist with a process orientation:

A brief glimpse of her life, "I wanted to deliver ASMR sounds through experimental singing of sacred poetry that came from the Armenian church, using the poetry to engage in exploring the sonic. In addition, the percussion instruments of the past have been a huge influence on me as a child and during my early musical education."

The result is as intriguing as it is captivating to the ears. It's a sonic elixir of sounds made from breath and plastic bags, singing bowls stuffed with hypnotic rice music that is temples and echoing with binaural beauty and through the ears of a Neumann KKU-100 "head microphone." We hope you will enjoy this journey through sounds, spoken word, soft flesh, and many other unusual instruments.
