Blender Market - Physics Dropper:

This add-on simplifies the process of placing selected objects using physics simulations in Blender. After selecting the mesh objects you want to drop, you click "Drop" to start the simulation. You can pause the simulation, adjust the initial setup, and once satisfied with the result, click "Apply" to finalize the placement. While the full version of the add-on is available for free, users can donate to support the developer and the Blender development fund.
